About Page

Mission

My mission is to formally document revelatory Intelligence, in order to chart its process and progress, and to update the public in the growing revelation that creates gateways of perception unto the tangible animation of the prophetic word.

Vision

My vision is to chart the possibility of the supernatural and create gateways of innovation and thought leadership, giving tangibility to what no eye has seen or ear heard.

Values

My values for this mission are rooted in the unification of the natural and the supernatural, the unification of mind and spirit, science and supernatural phenomena, in the expression of truth and wonder.

The Theory of Everything & the Praxis of Everything

Introduction

This briefing is a combination of Revelation, Research, and Pre-Cognition of what is possible. The information and revelation is meant to build with each progressive volume. The next volume will encompass String Theory and Group Theory (Abstract Algebra) revelatory representations.

My intent for all purposes is to break down the framework of creation and its Divine Design and create a grid of understanding that will elucidate the reality of heavenly mysteries.

Scriptural Focal Point

""He made known to us the mystery of His will, according to His kind intention which He purposed in Him with a view suitable to the fullness of the times, that is, the summing up all things in Christ, things in the heavens and things on the earth.""

The Theory of Everything & the Praxis of Everything: Where The Eternal Converges with Humanity

Brief History

For many years now science has tried to conceive a theory that would unify all the forces of the universe. Such theory would be the crowning jewel of scientific endeavor and it would answer many questions about the mysteries of the universe and facilitate innovation. Its repercussions would be felt throughout every sphere of society. I believe that the unveiling of a Theory of Everything would be a sign of harmonic resonance between the natural and supernatural dimensions.

The Divine Inspiration

This brings me to the idea of the Praxis of Everything, and how it was conceived in my mind.

I was taken into a dream where the Lord gave me access to His mansion of faith, I knew that this realm was Hebrews 11:1 “Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen.”

Continued

The realm of the “substance of things hoped for” can be perceived as the dimension of theorizing in faith, meaning, the envisioning and drafting of the substance of hope into a framework, and in this framework of hope what you believe you will find.

Additionally, in the realm of faith it is harnessed equally with the practice of that hope, meaning the action of that hope, transitions into conviction, of evidence. And what is that evidence? The impulse of an action that knows "something" is there and that unlocks the unseen into the seen. The word for "things" in the second portion of Hebrews 11:1 is the word "pragma" that denotes an action, the business, the transaction, the exchange of the things not seen. It is not a word of abstraction but of real action.

In essence Pragma is the translation mechanism that sums up the hope into a form that is actionable. This is what I define as the idea of the Praxis of Everything.

Heaven's Faith dimension holds the Theory of Everything and the Praxis of Everything. It is my sense that the Praxis of Everything is summed up in the resurrection power and the interface of belief in the realm of this power brings manifestation.

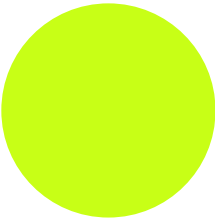

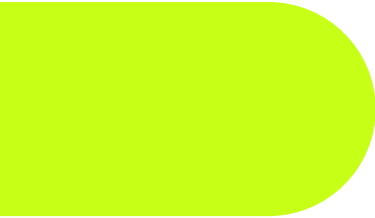

As our hope begins to observe, it builds belief, that in turn becomes knowledge, and that undeniable knowledge is the fulcrum where conviction becomes action and action enacts the supernatural.

Conclusion

There are a few candidates for the Theory of Everything in the realm of Physics, however the models are still being modified and are growing with new information, however the main issue with these models like String Theory or Super String Theory is that there is no testable space where the projections of these theories can be tested. Nonetheless, I believe that each person that has a role in the process of collective discovery has been gifted with a unique hope that will frame their observation. The more that this hope is fine tuned to God's highest possibility, the better the theories will be and the praxis that accompanies them. I also believe that although technology has given us machinery like the Hadron Collider in Switzerland, it is still not powerful enough to unlock the experimental side of the theories.

Let me pose this question, could it be possible that there is a realm of supernatural power that can synergize with the theoretical ideas and bring forth action that we have not considered before? Does the realm of power of God only retain its domain only in our religious services or in the restoration of our bodies, or can it be a tool of Divine glory that will assist us in the discovery of the Theory of everything? And how do we make room for this heavenly power that will help humanity unveil the secrets of the universe?

I believe the Praxis of Everything is in the Domain of the Glory of God's power endued with wonders that unveils the unseen and animates the framework of hope.

Within the realm of faith, is the Theory of Everything and The Praxis of Everything- not only in a collective form, but in an individual form, meaning heaven longs to give you a unifying hope that produces a unifying action in your destiny that begins to unlock the glory that has remained invisible till now.

What has God called you to behold? What wave function of His imagination has He called you to collapse into a particle that creates reality?

These are questions worth pursuing and apprehending with great intent.

We must dream in such a way that it is in the image of our Heavenly Father, taking our dreams beyond the observation of hope, into the realm of belief, that produces knowledge and becomes action and transmits the supernatural exchange of heaven into earth. We are brokers of miracles and of futures unseen, and our dreams hold the infinite realm of possibility.

With our observation converging with God's possibility, our conviction moves into action empowered by the supernatural.
